But The Arizona Yacht Club Makes It Possible

This letter from the Arizona Yacht Club (AYC) begins to explain one of the unique boating opportunities in Arizona's desert.

Welcome To The Arizona Yacht Club!

Peter Lehrach, commodore 2014-2015, writes, "The Arizona Yacht Club has enabled sailing in the desert since 1958. Most of our sailing is in the Phoenix area at Lake Pleasant and Tempe Town Lake but we've been known to proudly fly our burgees around the world. "If you're new, there are Peter Lehroch many great ways to learn more about our club. I encourage you to write to our membership directors, John and Dianna, join us for our entertaining and informative monthly meetings, and read Sr. Staff Commodore Mike Ferring's New Guy's Guide that has a boatload of really useful information (right down to menu recommendations)

'Recently, Sailing World magazine wrote a wonderful five-page article about our 54th annual Birthday Regatta. We're honored and proud, but not surprised, that a national magazine found our events to be well run, competitive and (most importantly) fun!

"Check out our racing program, US Sailing-certified education opportunities, monthly meetings, cruising, and social events that fill our active calendar; I think you will be impressed."

"To our more than 210 existing member families: I'm committed to maintaining and improving our quality AYC programs and equipment, as you've come to expect.

Best regards, Peter Lehrach, commodore."

Busy Boaters

We at Arizona Boating & Watersports/ Western Outdoor Times congratulate AYC on its interesting, entertaining, and educational events that literally fill-up the pages of their calendar.

For example, in June through early August alone, these events are scheduled: Saturday, June 21, 4 p.m., Summer Sail-

Lake Pleasant Sailing Club (LPSC) was founded in 1977 and currently has approximately 100 member

See HEAT on page 14

Cruise News

LPSC sponsors approximately 16 weekend cruises per year at Lake Pleasant north of Phoenix, Ariz. The cruises usually involve sailing the lake and then rafting up (each boat puts out an anchor and ties up alongside the other boats) in a designated cove for the evening meal and spending the night.

The cruises most often have a theme such as Surf and Turf, Mardi Gras, Cinco De Mayo, Veteran's Day, etc. LPSC also sponsors midweek cruises throughout the sailing season (fall, winter and spring). LPSC sponsors out-of-town cruises to other lakes. Catalina Island, San Diego, etc.

Monthly Meetings And More

LPSC has monthly general membership meetings that include a presentation of interest to members. The calendar also includes off-the-water social events such as the Ice Cream Social, Holiday Party, Wine & Cheese

Education Is Key

LPSC has a mission of educating its members in all things involving sailing and sailing safety. This includes presentations at general membership meetings and a special Ladies Day at the Lake, which was inaugurated in 2009 (This was an all day event with classroom and on-the-water training by professional instructors for the women.)

All Are Welcome

The Lake Pleasant Sailing Club welcomes sailors of all stripes This is an active club based on Lake Pleasant, but the club also hosts boating events in California, on other Arizona lakes, and on land.

The club's mission is to promote recreational and social programs, seamanship, and water safety. It encourages and establishes good will between the club and other yacht clubs and sailing associations. Overall, the club organizes opportunities for members to take part in all forms of yachting and boating.

In September of this year, 2014, Lake Pleasant Sailing Club is celebrating 37 years of sailing, education and friendship.

An Open Invitation

LPSC has an open invitation: "Join us for stress-free, sailing-related adventures with See SALING CLUB on page 14

Test Your Boating Knowledge

From Capt. Dave Esparza

This is the first of several boating-safety quizzes offered to educate (or remind) boaters of some important guidelines. Although they may be helpful, it is recommended that all who recreate on and near the water take a boating-safety class. (See page 3 of this issue for a list of current classes.) This recommendation is for both new boaters and for seasoned ones who would benefit from an update.

There is a prize for the first one who answers all questions correctly and e-mails the answers, along with the matching questions, to jim@azbw.com The answers appear on another page in this issue.

Good luck!

Life jackets, or "Personal Floatation Devices" (PFD) must be readily accessible, in good and serviceable condition and the right size for the intended wearer. On Arizona waterways, vessels 16 feet in length or longer, except canoes or kayaks, must have one Type IV USCG approved throwable floatation device on board and readily accessible.

U.S. Boating Industry Forecasts Sales Momentum Into Summer

New data show recreational boating is a $36.7 billion industry, versatile boats leading recovery.

The National Marine Manufacturers Association (NMMA) today announced that the recreational boating industry saw healthy growth in 2013, generating $36.7 billion in retail expenditures (new and preowned boats and engines, trailers, accessories and services), a 3.2 percent increase from 2012.

An estimated 166,800 new powerboats and sailboats were sold at retail in 2013. an increase of 2.2 percent, coming on the heels of the industry's 2012 rebound when new powerboat and sailboat retail sales increased 10.7 percent — the industry's first sign of recovery. The NMMA is anticipating continued momentum with an additional 5-7 percent increase in retail sales of new boats in 2014

The NMMA released these findings as part of its U.S. Recreational Boating Statistical Abstract, an annual collection of data and analysis on the state of the U.S.

recreational boating industry which was released June 1

Busy Selling Season

'As the nation's economic recovery matures and boating businesses prepare for summer, a peak selling season for recreational boats, accessories and services, we expect to see continued stable growth in sales," noted NMMA President Thom Dammrich. "Following a year of inclement weather throughout the U.S. driving pent-up demand and Americans taking to the water in record numbers, the industry is primed for a busy selling season."

Versatile boats are leading recovery and driving industry innovation. Ski and wakeboard boats, as well as fiberglass and aluminum outboard boats, led the industry's growth in 2013. Ski and wakeboard boats continue to grow in popularity, with an 11 percent increase in the number of new boats sold at retail in 2013 to 6,100 units: outboard boats (pontoons, fishing boats and small family cruisers) were the most popular type of new powerboat sold in 2013, comprising approximately 84 percent of the powerboat market and up 5 percentto 134,800 units.

'Innovative' Boats In Demand

Additionally, the personal watercraft (PWC) category increased 2 percent compared to 2012 with 39,400 new craft sold at retail and inboard cruisers leant in retail sales 10 percent compared to the previous year with 2,200 new units sold in 2013.

What's more, 2013 was the first time since pre-recession (2009) that the ratio of pre-owned boat to new boat sales decreased, indicating a shift in consumer demand for new boats.

"In 2013, we saw more manufacturers producing innovative boats that offer an entry into the boating lifestyle at a variety of price points. A trend in boat manufacturing is the versatile boat — one that can pull tubers or wake boarders, be used for fishing outings, relaxing with the family or entertaining," noted Dammrich.
"We're seeing manufacturers shift their manufacturing processes, becoming leaner and more efficient, to be able to offer these innovative boats at a lower cost, in turn introducing more people to boating. Across the board, the boating industry recognizes the demand of the 88.5 million Americans who go boating and want to own a boat of their own and pass their water gene on to future generations.

The Numbers Are Up

Americans are taking to the water in record numbers: Of the 241.9 million adults in the United States in 2013, 36.6 percent, or 88.5 million, participated in recreational boating at least once during 2013 — the second highest percentage on record.

Fishing remains the most popular activity current participants engaged in while boating during 2013. Nearly 6 of 10 (57.8 percent) fished while boating while 19.3 percent canoed, followed by tubing (17.8 percent) and water-skiing (14.6 percent).

Boating is uniquely American: 95 per-cent of the boats sold in the United States are made in the United States.

Currently, 95 percent of boats on the

Arizonans Encouraged To Prepare For Severe Weather Hazards

proclaimed a Monsoon Awareness Week in Arizona in anticipation of the 2014 monsoon season and summer severe weather hazards. However, the message from that week is relevant throughout the season.

Arizona's monsoon spans the hot summer months of June to mid-September. Extreme heat alone can cause dehydration, heat exhaustion and heat stroke. People over 65 years old, children under 5, persons with a pre-existing medical condition, and individuals who work outdoors during the hottest hours of the day are at a higher risk for heat-related illness that accompany the monsoon," said Arizona Division of Emergency Management (ADEM) Director Wendy Smith-Reeve. "But we have to be prepared for the severe weather that may come along with it."

Most Arizonans, however, associate the monsoon with scattered showers and higher humidities. Thunderstorms can cause localized flash flooding, dust storms and — if there's lightning—wildfires.

ADEM has partnered with the National Weather Service; the Arizona departments of Health Services, Insurance, Public Safety, Transportation and Water Resources; and The Salvation Army to advocate preparedness before the "rainy season." Arizonans are encouraged to take the following actions in preparation for the monsoon season:

Plan: Write communication and evacuation plans that identify a family meeting place, account for individuals' unique needs and family pets, and include an out-of-town contact. Practice your plan.

Prepare: Set aside enough non-perishable food and potable water to sustain your family (including pets) for 72 hours. Suggested kit items include first aid supplies, a radio, batteries and a flashlight. Pack a smaller "go kit" with copies of important documents, cash and a phone charger for evacuations.

Inquire: Know the threats to your community and how to react to them. Ask your child's school about their emergency

MCCAIN AMENDMENTS TO SPORTSMEN'S ACT

Arizona Game And Fish Commission Votes Support

Amendments would enhance hunting and fishing opportunities in Arizona.

The Arizona Game and Fish Commission has voted unanimously to support two amendments proposed by Sen. John Mc-Cain (R-Ariz.) to the Bipar-tisan Sportsmen's Act of 2014, to support hunting and sportfishing opportunities in Arizona and across the nation.

"Senator McCain continues to be a leading advocate for maintaining and strengthening the state's wildlife management authorities," said Game and Fish Commission Chair J.W. Harris. "The commission's support of these two important amendments to the Bipartisan Sportsmen's Act is a testament to the Senator's passion for wildlife and commitment to Arizona sportsmen."

An Expanding Bison Population

The amendments, filed yesterday, deal with National Parks Service wildlife management (including bison at Grand Canyon) and with fish hatcheries (including the Willow Beach hatchery) in the National Fish Hatchery System:

Grand Canyon Bison Amendment, S.A. 3240. Over the years, bison from the House Rock Wildlife Area on the Kaibab National Forest have migrated to Grand Canyon National Park, where bison numbers have grown to more than 300. Hunting is prohibited in the national park, which has become a safe haven for an ex-panding bison population that overgrazes and damages the park's natural resources. The National Park Service (NPS) during the past decade has had limited success removing the bison. Earlier this year, NPS, in collaboration with other agencies (including the Arizona Game and Fish Department), initiated an Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) with a public scoping process to develop a range of alternatives for managing bison at the park.

The amendment proposed by Senator
McCain would allow the Secretary of the Interior to authorize highly regulated lethal removal of wildlife inside a national park where wildlife is causing habitat or cultural resource damage. Federal regulations make it difficult to convey ownership of the carcass to the hunter who harvests wildlife on NPS land. The amendment allows authorized volunteer hunters who harvest bison from Grand Canyon National Park to take ownership of the bison

Help To Fund Fish Hatcheries

National Fish Hatchery System Amendment, S.A. 3241. In Arizona, the Willow Beach National Fish Hatchery may have to end its 50-year trout stocking mission along the Colorado River if the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (USFWS) is unable to find funds within its budget to repair a broken water intake pipe. The hatchery was constructed in 1962 for the purpose of stocking trout to mitigate the impact of the Hoover Dam.

This amendment would require federal water agencies, such as the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation (BOR), to help fund certain fish hatcheries that are operated by the USFWS. A June 12 news release issued by Senator McCain's office stated that, according to an independent audit by the Government Accountability Office (GAO), federal water agencies have been dodging their responsibility to transfer "reimbursement funds" to hatcheries that were constructed to mitigate the loss of

ews: Stripers Are Slurping

http://www.wayneswords.com

Lake Powell is still coming up and now breaking the 3600 MSL barrier, but stripers are the big news now. Striper slurping boils are seen lake wide.

Young stripers that live in the warm surface layer are finding larval shad (less than an inch) near the surface. Young shad cannot swim fast enough to elude stripers which line up and methodically "mow" the surface area, chomping down all shad in their path.

From a distance, the feeding activity looks like another boat wake, but after closer examination, the disturbance is made by a platoon of fish swimming in an orderly line. It is really cool to watch the action but it is even better to participate.

'Rules Of Engagement'

Shad are tiny so big lures are not the best. The skirmish line is all about the business at hand so a large lure tossed in school to submerge and swim away from the foreign matter dropping out of the sky.

The rules of engagement are to throw tiny lures like flies and tiny jigs or spoons. It's a great day for fly fishermen. But, spinning rods also work under these con-

Lures must be cast over or ahead of the skirmish line. Then a small lure that swims gently through the feeding fish or just underneath may be taken by a brave individual. A small rattletrap or Kastmaster are the target lures for this approach.

Other Options

Another option is to seek out the leaders that break away from the group and head in a new direction. These scouts are looking for the next shad school and are most likely to hit larger lures that can be cast longer distances. Small profile surface lures, marabou jigs and small crankbaits work.

The last option is a combination lure with a small fly attached to a large surface lure. Throw the big lure to reach the fast feeding school and then hope the small lure is eaten by the feeding stripers.

It's a grand chase with lots of fun and action. At the end of the day, a reasonable number of fat 12-20 inch stripers will be caught. The bigger boils and huge catches will come next month when shad grow larger to meal size and stripers have to chase harder to catch a meal. Boils will be

Try A Number of Spots

All fish like the little shad but adults have not really found them yet. Bass, walleye and adult stripers are still in the deeper water. Bait is working for stripers but the schools are roaming.

A big catch can happen at the mouth of any canyon one day followed by a complete bust at the same spot the next day. The plan should be to try a number of spots until a school is found and then load up. Do not spend much time at each spot when searching for a school. Move often for best results.

Walleye

Walleye are the best adult fish to pursue now but techniques are also specialized. Walleye are close to the bottom in 10-30 feet of water near cover of rocks or brush. Recently, it has been more productive to tip a plastic bass grub with a piece of worm and slowly and methodically work the worm from shallow to deep water.

HALLS HAUL HALLS HAUL — Mark woerrer, Engerwood, Colo., caught lots of stripers on bait and walleye on worms while fishing midlake out of Halls Crossing. Striper fishing is picking up as slurping boils are now seen over most of the lake. Better bring the fishing rod when heading out on the Lake Powell family vacation this year. It will be worth it.

Good numbers of healthy walleye from 12-30 inches are being caught.

Adult Bass

Adult bass are in deeper water while the small bass are along drop-offs and open water reefs. Lake level is coming up so fast that fishing shoreline is less productive than finding a steep drop-off with rocky structure and shade.

It feels like summer and fish are happy to feed in these conditions. They are more than willing to participate with anglers. We just need to know the summer rules that are now in effect.

At press time, lake elevation was 3599.32 and water temperature was 71-78F

Tip Of The Week Greer Derby

The Business Council of Greer is sponsoring a $10,000 Fishing Derby until Oct. 31.

Catch one of 50 tagged fish in the three Greer Lakes and bring one into the Lazy Trout Market to exchange for a hat.

On Nov. 1 at 10 a.m. at The Lazy Trout Market, a tag will be drawn and it must match the winning number sent by OddsOnPromotions to win the $10,000.

Registration is not necessary before catching the tagged fish.

If there is no $10,000 winner, a $250 first and $100 second place winner will be drawn.

Complete rules are available at The Lazy Trout Market.

The Reel Deal

Perhaps you did this for Dad on Father's Day. If not, there's still plenty of time (the season has just begun!) to take him fishing in the northern lakes of Arizona. The memories created around clear, blue mountain lakes remain lifetime gems. Don't miss one.

And, by the way, other family and friends will welcome the break from the Valley heat as well.

Here's where to go, or things to consider before heading out:

White Mountains And Mogollon Rim Lakes

Fishing is good-to-excellent for trout at Carnero Lake, Woods Canyon Lake, Show Low Creek, and Silver Creek

Catching is good at Bear Canyon Lake and Nelson Reservoir. Large (13inch length) rainbow trout are being stocked this year into Rainbow Lake, Fool Hollow Lake, and Show Low Lake, and Willow Springs Lake will be stocked this week with moderately large (11-inch length) rainbow trout.

Fishing is also good at most of the stocked streams, including East Fork Black River, LCR in Greer, and Sheeps Crossing. Also recommended are fishing for stocked bluegill at Woodland Lake and Fool Hollow Lake, and for stocked channel catfish at Rainbow Lake, Fool Hollow Lake, and Scott Reservoir.

Great Fishing Trips

Jim Goughnour of Rim Country Custom Rods said the Rim lakes and streams continue to produce some great fishing trips. Stocked trout are plentiful. Power-Bait, salmon eggs, Super Dupers, Z-Rays, crankbaits and dry flies were all reported successful this past week, he said.

Flagstaff/Williams Area

At Lower Lake Mary, fishing slowed in early June for anglers using bait, but fly anglers continue to catch large numbers of fish in the early mornings and the evenings.

Ashurst Lake's water level has dropped to the point that launching boats is not allowed. In addition, the water quality has deteriorated to the point that trout stocking is no longer possible. There are still large numbers of trout in the lake so fishing should be okay. There are always monster

We have a new northern pike, statewide fish-of-the-year keeper from Ashurst, pictured in this story. Fishing for trout with PowerBait on June 7, Lester R. of Glendale pulled in the 43.5-inch bruiser. Congrats, Lester!

Stocking in the upper reaches of Oak Creek have been canceled as a result of the Slide Fire. Stocking locations from Sedona downstream are still being stocked.

Lake Powell And Lees Ferry

Wayne Gustaveson wrote in his latest fishing report on www.wayneswords.com that "Lake Powell is still coming up and will break the 3600 MSL barrier today, but stripers are the big news now. Striper slurping boils are seen lake wide." See the full Wayne Gustaveson June 11 report at http://www.wayneswords.com [or on page 7 of this issue].

At Lees Ferry, we read in the Lees Ferry Anglers June 5 fishing report that for fly fishing up river, "Summer weather and the corresponding higher water flows have arrived right on schedule. It took a few days - really maybe 72 hours - for fish to settle into their high water mode, but once they did it was business as usual.

SPORTSMEN'S GRANTS Now Is The Time To Apply

AZGFD offers $75,000 in grants for hunting for not-for-profit local conservation groups, clubs, and organizations.

The Arizona Game and Fish Department is budgeting $75,000 in grant funding for local sportsmen's groups or organizations that will host public programs or events that teach people how to hunt and the role hunters play in wildlife conservation in Arizona.

"The Local Sportsmen's Group Grant is perfect for organizations that are looking to start or expand introductory hunting programs in their communities but lack the funding," said Doug Burt, hunting and shooting sports program manager of Arizona Game and Fish. "This grant program is an investment in the local organizations that, day-in and day-out, are teaching peo-ple how to be safe, ethical and responsible hunter-conservationists."

BE 'BEAR AWARE' OUT THERE

Encounters Are Increasing

As temperatures climb and Arizonans head to the high country, human encounters with bears in campgrounds and communities are on the increase. Arizona Game and Fish Department officials are asking people to "Be Bear Aware." Homeowners and recreationists should take precautions to minimize potential conflicts with bears and other wildlife.

The root cause of any human-wildlife encounter is typically food. Keep a clean

Don't intentionally feed wildlife will just get you and the wild animal in trouble," said April Howard, the large car-nivore biologist with Game and Fish. 'Cook and eat your food 100 yards from your sleeping area."

Safety Tips

Here are some tips to keep you safe, and to discourage bears from visiting your campsite:

- Never intentionally feed wildlife. Even bird feeders can become attractants if they are not placed out of reach of bears and set up properly to prevent spillage.
- Don't camp near hiking trails, water or berry patches
- Secure all garbage. To do so, use bearresistant containers, hang garbage from a tree (garbage should be 10-15 feet high and 4 feet from its hanging surface) or keep garbage in a vehicle.
- Keep tent and sleeping area clear of any food and other scented items such as
- deodorant, lotion and toothpaste.
   Walk or jog in groups. Pay attention to your surroundings when hiking, jogging or bicycling.
- Supervise your children (especially toddlers) and keep them in sight at all

Keep your pets on a leash - don't allow them to be free roaming. Free roaming pets can be a cause of adverse human/bear encounters, especially dogs chasing female bears with cubs.

- · Don't leave pet food out where bears and other wild animals become habituated
- Manage the vegetation around your home to eliminate hiding and daybed use cover for bears and wildlife.
- Remember that the majority of standard coolers are not effective at keeping a bear from breaking in and stealing its contents. There are companies that specialize in bear-resistant containers.

But, If You Do Encounter A Bear

- If you encounter a bear consider these
- suggestions:
   Never get between a female bear and her cubs.
- Do not try to intervene with a bear chasing your dog back to you. Let the bear focus its attention on your dog and not switch its aggression towards you.
  - · Stay calm.
- · If a bear has not noticed you, do not get its attention. Continue facing it, and
- slowly back away.

   If a bear has noticed you, make loud noises by clanging pans, using air horns or whatever is available.
- If attacked, fight back. Bear and mountain lion attacks are predation events and you are considered the prey.

  • If a bear has noticed you, don't run
- unless it is dangerously close. Get inside of a vehicle or building. Running elicits what is called a predator-prey response if you run, the animal might instinctively want to chase and catch you. Despite their imposing size, bears are quick and can reach speeds of 40 mph.

- · Make yourself look as big and imposing as possible.
- Speak loudly or yell let it know vou are human.

Plan Ahead

"Plan and prepare before camping or hiking," Howard said. "Contact the appropriate park or forest service and find out if there has been any bear sightings or is-

Keep in mind that when wildlife and humans come into conflict, the wildlife will almost always lose. Due to publicsafety concerns, a bear that is conditioned to humans and causes property damage or injury, or has lost its fear of humans, is a dead bear. Don't feed them either intentionally or unintentionally.

Although the department will trap and relocate a nuisance bear that happens to come into conflict with humans, once a bear loses its fear of humans or is habituated to eating human-provided food (both typically occur), the department has limited choices. Capturing and relocating a problem bear is not a viable public-safety

A Possible 'Death Sentence'

Another factor to keep in mind is that relocated bears do not always have long life expectancies. Bears are extremely territorial. Putting a bear into another bear's territory is setting the animal up for a different type of conflict - one that can be

"Your actions will affect these bears" survival," Howard said, "and that's why it's important to follow these simple bear safety procedures and protocols while camping and hiking so bears don't have to

Utah May Have Its First California Condor Chick Since Reintroduction

From AZGFD

The Southwest Condor Workgroup a cooperative venture between wildlife conservation and public land management agencies — optimistically reports that a California condor may have hatched in the wild in Utah for the first time since the endangered species was released in Vermilion Cliffs National Monument in northern Arizona in 1996.

Biologists are waiting to visually confirm the chick's existence before the milestone becomes official, but recent behaviors by the adult pair are encouraging.

"It was only a matter of time before birds started nesting in Utah," says Chris Parish, condor field project supervisor with The Peregrine Fund. "There is great habitat in Utah and the condors did not take long to find it."

In Zion National Park

The condor pair self-selected a nesting cavity in a remote canyon within Zion National Park and has been under observation by biologists since they began exhibiting courtship behavior this past winter. The nest cave was found by following radio and GPS signals from transmitters mounted on each condor. E

Earlier this year, the birds displayed be-havior indicating they were incubating an egg. Now biologists monitoring the pair have seen one adult staying in the nest cave while the other forages, signs that they may be tending a chick. They trade these roles every few days.

"The cavity is 1,000 feet above the canyon floor so no one has had direct observation of a chick yet. However, if the egg had not been viable, or if a hatchling had died, there would be no reason for the adult condor pair to continue to visit this cave," said The Peregrine Fund Condor

Project Manager Eddie Feltes.

Lead Poisoning Still An Obstacle

Condors have demonstrated breeding and nesting attempts within Zion National Park over the past four years, but none were successful. Sadly, one of the condors from a potential breeding pair died in 2012 and the mate in 2013 due to lead poisoning.

Lead poisoning remains the biggest obstacle to successful condor recovery in Arizona and Utah. Condors ingest lead when feeding on the remains of animals shot with lead-based ammunition. The Utah Division of Wildlife Resources and Arizona Game and Fish both have programs that work with hunters to reduce the amount of lead available to condors

'Suvoyuki Day' Celebrates Hopi Partners

There will be dancers, traditional food and tours on Saturday, Aug. 2 at Homolovi State Park.

"Suvoyuki" translated in the Hopi language means to accomplish work through a "joint effort." "Suvoyuki Day" is an open house on Saturday, Aug. 2 from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Homolovi State Park that celebrates the partners who have helped to protect and save Homolovi-area archaeological and cultural sites from destruction.

There will be activities throughout the day, including special archaeological site tours. Cultural artists and demonstrators will also be on hand. The Homolovi Dancers will perform two dances at the event. The corn-roasting pit will be opened at 8 a.m. and will start the day's activities.

Journey Into Hopi Life, Culture

Homolovi, one of a series of many ancient Hopi pueblos found in the Southwest, offers the public the opportunity to begin their journey into Hopi life and culture. Like the modern visitor making their way to Hopi, Homolovi was a stop for the ancestral Hopi people along their migration route, eventually moving on and settling at one of the current Hopi villages.

For more information about Homolovi State Park, call (928) 289-4106. Homolovi State Park is located five miles northeast of the city of Winslow in northeastern Arizona. The park campground is convenient to I-40 and accommodates large rigs, as well as tent camping. Tent camp sites to full hookup camping sites are available at a fee of $15 to $25 depending on the type of camping site needed.

Cool Arizona Hikes For Summer

By Margie Anderson

Lynx Lake

One of our favorite little hikes in the pines is the easy trail #311 that circles Lynx Lake. Most of this trail is shaded by trees, and the lake and the forest around it are gorgeous. We often see a huge variety of birds and small mammals, even in the

The paved part of the trail on the west side of the lake is wheelchair and stroller accessible, but once you reach the far end of the laken the trail turns to dirt.

'Bee' Prepared

At this far end of the lake opposite the parking lot, the trail passes through a short area that sometimes has very high vegeta-tion that attracts a lot of insects, including bees. We have traversed it many times, even when the grandkids were very small, and never had a sting yet. However, if anyone in your party has a bee allergy, proceed with caution and make sure you have the proper medication with you just in

This trail is mostly level and even, and there are many pleasant places along the path to sit and enjoy the view and the shade. You can even bring a fishing pole along and try for some trout.

Anglers over 13 are required to have an Arizona fishing license, but with the new regulations, you can get them one online for only $5, and you can even print it out right then and there. It's quite a bargain, since this is a combination hunt/fish license! Visit www.azgfd.gov.

Leisure At Lynx Lake

The whole hike around the lake will only take you about 45 minutes, and it's the perfect hike for kids. You can also access several other trails from this one if you are inclined toward longer or more strenuous hikes.

There are picnic tables and restrooms at the Southshore parking lot where the trail begins, and there is also water there. Lynx Lake is an awesome place to spend a leisurely summer day, and a day pass is

River Trail/Dead Horse Ranch State Park

Dead Horse Ranch State Park

You've got to admit that Dead Horse Ranch State Park has a very memorable name. According to the Web site, the Irey's family came to Arizona from Minnesota looking for a ranch to buy and they found one with a dead horse lying by the road. When the family asked the children which ranch they liked, they replied, "the one with the dead horse" — and the name

June would be a good time to visit this beautiful place, especially if you want to try your hand at fishing.

Normally, entry to the park is $7.00 per vehicle or $3.00 for an individual or bicycle. There are plenty of places to camp here, including some awesome little cabins right by the water. Check out their Web site for information about fees and reservations at http://azstateparks.com/parks/ deho/index.html.

Dead Horse Ranch State Park Pond

Arroyo Nature Trail

surround them and lead to each.

There are lots of trails at Dead Horse and The Verde River Greenway. Many are shady, but many are not. If you plan to hike in summer, stick to the shady ones along the river unless you start very early in the morning and stop before it gets too hot. Trailheads are located north of the la-goon area or at the end of Flycatcher road.

Warm-Weather Favorites

Our two favorite warm weather trails are Verde River Greenway, which is a 2mile shared-use trail along the river, which intersects with Quail Wash and Lagoon Trails. The trailhead is located in the River Day Use area or can be accessed on the south side of the lagoons.

Also, the Riverfront Trail, is a half-mile trail that runs along the south side of the Verde River and is perfect for walking. The trail is accessed from either the south end of the Dead Horse Ranch State Park Bridge or from Riverfront Park, You can also rent horses at the Park, and you might meet horsemen on your hikes.

The Ones To Use

To get to these lovely places, follow these directions from the website. Apparently many sites and programs give wrong information, so copy these down and use them: From Interstate 17 go west at Exit 287 (Highway 260 toward Cottonwood). Continue approximately 11 miles to Main Street in Cottonwood

Trinity On Lynx Lake Trail

Trails Follow The River

The Verde River Greenway State Natural Area is right next to Dead Horse Ranch State Park, and since it is a natural area there are no restrooms, campgrounds, or facilities here by the Use the park as your base for enjoying the gorgeous hikes along the Verde River. Trails are soft and easy for the most part, and are shaded by the big trees that are nourished by the river.

This is truly a beautiful place to hike, and you can make your hike as short or as long as you like. Kids will love these cool trails that follow the river.

Fish And Birds

There are three large ponds in the park that are stocked with fish, and you can catch largemouth bass, channel catfish, bluegill, crappie, and rainbow trout. There is also some spectacular bird watching around these ponds, and wide gravel paths (Hwy 89A) and turn left.

Continue through Cottonwood on Main Street (the street will gradually curve to the left). Turn right (North) on North 10th Street. You'll see a brown information sign for Dead Horse Ranch State Park before the 10th Street turn.

Carry Lots Of Water, Lots!

If you choose to hike in Arizona in summer, remember to carry a lot of water. Take more than you think you will need, especially if you have kids with you. Wear a hat and sunscreen even if your trail is mostly in the shade, and get a good map and know where you are going.

Kids should be given a blaze orange hunting vest (available very cheap at sporting goods stores) and a really loud whistle in case they wander off and need to get your attention. The whistle is only for emergency use — it can be heard farther than yelling, and is easier on the throat. Hiking can be a life-long joy if you use your head, and Arizona has some of the most fantastic hikes in the country.

AN INTERESTING BIT OF HISTORY

In Castle Dome City Is The 3-Stamp Mill

This story is an introduction to a future feature about the restoration of historic mining equipment and more in Arizona; stay tuned for the July/Aug. issue.

By Jim Allen

Publishers Note - We at Arizona Boating & Watersports/Western Outdoor Times had the pleasure of meeting Morris Jackson in 2006. He came on board as an advertiser and quickly turned into a friend. I have learned much from Morris and from his experiences over the years.

It is because of Morris and his interest in rebuilding old mine equipment that we are able to bring you this story. Morris also builds mining models and has developed quite a following for them over the vears.

We will be following up in our next issue with more information about the rebuilding of the Castle Dome City 3-Stamp Mill. In the meantime there is more information available at the Web sites listed

This story is about the Castle Dome City 3-stamp mill. Castle Dome City is 55 miles south of Quartzite, Ariz. who did the renovation at Castle Dome City are Roger Camplin, Chuck Messer-schmidt, Charlie Connell, Allen Albertson (owner) and Morris Jackson. You can find more information on this project at www.castledomemuseum.com.

Charlie Connell was the leader of the group. Connell has been restoring mining equipment as a volunteer for various museums for almost 20 years. Connell stated, "My focus is to bring the artifact back to operation, so that people can see how the equipment ran many years ago."

You can find out more about Connell and the restoration of historic mine equipment at http://stampmillman.blogspot. For those of you living in the Phoenix area, there is an operational 10stamp mill at the Cave Creek Museum.

Cool Sunday Summer Series

On June 15, the Cool Sunday Summer Series at Tempe Town Lake began at 9 a.m. The racing and RC training begins in the (relative) cool of the morning this year and it's the low-pressure kind — no scores, just $20 for members to enter six races. Nonmembers pay $35.

Another popular and annual event of AYC is the Kinnikinick Kampout, Aug. 1-3. Since there are already record-scorching temperatures in June, sailors and guests will be ready to welcome a weekend in the pines in early August.

Senior Staff Commodore Mike Ferring writes, " Peter Lehrach is the new AYC Commodore. Peter Lehrach and the rest of the slate of officers ... officially took their seats on the board May 17 during the Commodore's Celebration.

"[Lehrach] joined AYC just two years ago and has served as club secretary and Vice Commodore. He's raced at Lake Pleasant as crew on J/80s with both Mike Ferring and Chris Smith. He was the driving force behind AYC's adopt-a-highway cleanup program, organizing cleaning parties for a stretch of Carefree Highway near Lake Pleasant.

"Others on the board are Senior Staff Commodore Mike Ferring, Junior Staff Commodore Cindy Pillote, Vice Commodore Christina Campo, Rear Com-modore Chris Smith, Fleet Captain Steve

Brown, Membership Directors John Riddell (two-year term) and Dianna Andress (oneyear term), and Cruising Captain Tom Errickson.

"[Later], the board [selected] a Treasurer (Tony Chapman) and Secretary (Lori Reger). We thank the departing board members for their service to AYC: Emory Heisler, Thom Dickerson, Andrea Love, Ralph Vatalaro, and Greg Woodcock.

"Voters also overwhelmingly approved an increase in club dues from $125 per year to $150 per year, effective with the next renewal period. It's been 10 years since AYC increased dues and 83% of voters approved doing it now."

"We focused on meeting the sailing requirements, leading seminars, and cramming one thousand facts into our heads," reported Emily Kaufmann.

'After almost 50 years of sailing, I decided that I should get some sort of certification and start teaching something again," said Arly Benson.

All the LPSC candidates who participated are now ASA instructors. The club is lucky to have a healthy number of certified sailing instructors all poised to start new sailors on the right tack and to offer their expertise to fellow sailors the Maricopa Trail for hikers, equestrians and mountain bike enthusiasts.

Volunteers Lay Out Trail

"Most of the work was completed by a County contractor. However, this March, the Arizona Professional Land Surveyors celebrated National Surveyor's Week by assigning volunteers to lay out the trail for the contractor. Three private land surveying firms, Wilson & Company, Hoskin Ryan Consultants, and Bowman Consulting, all sent surveyors and volunteers to help with this effort," said Maricopa County Supervisor Andy Kunasek, District 3.

In addition to the surveying work, Case New Holland supplied equipment and personnel to complete extensive earthwork, and culvert placement that was required before the departments' contractor could

'This is exciting news." commented Supervisor Clint Hickman, District 4. "I'm a big supporter of the Maricopa Trail, and it's great to see the excellent progress that is being made on it, especially through partnerships and volunteer efforts.

The Maricopa Trail was authorized by the Maricopa County Board of Supervisors in 2004, and is approximately 60 percent complete. When completed, the Maricopa Trail will be approximately 240miles in length winding around the Valley connecting all of Maricopa County's regional parks together.

Focus On Recruitment, Retention

The funding window focus for the 2014-15 grant cycle is on "new hunter recruitment and retention through continued engagement." Priority will be placed on projects that involve the take and/or harvesting of wildlife using a firearm, bow and arrow, or trapping. Projects funded by the grant must be open to the public and conducted in Arizona. Funds (pending fiscal year 2015 budget approval) will be awarded through a competitive application.

Examples of projects eligible include hands-on, mentored hunting events for small game animals, migratory birds, big game animals, and predatory animals with firearms as well as hunting with bow and arrow, trapping and fur harvesting methods.

"Based on our surveys, there is plenty of public interest and support of hunting, but many peoples are from families that did not grow up around these activities and need an experienced mentor to show them the way," Burt said. "Local sportsmen's groups / organizations offer a perfect solution because they can give provide the kind of guidance and support they need."

Created In 2007

The annual Local Sportsmen's Group grant program was created in 2007 to assist local sportsmen's groups and organizations as they are critical to wildlife conservation and continuing the hunting heritage. To be eligible, applicants should be not-for-profit, local, Arizona-based, or an Arizona-chapter sportsmen's or outdoor development organization with a focus on hunting, fishing, shooting, trapping and wildlife

Note: There is no cost to Arizona taxpayers for this grant program. The Arizona Game and Fish Department does not

The purpose of the Club is to serve the interest of boat owners and water remeational enthusiasts, to defend such owners and recreational enthusiasts against discriminatory legislation and burdensome troution, the prevent the pollution of Lake Powell and neighboring recreational facilities, to stimulate a greater interest in boating among all the citizens in the area and those attracted to the area served by the Club, to promote better boating and water safety, to develop a fraternal spirit among local out-door enthusiasts, and to provide a mediant for the exchange of buating information.

I've already began staffing up for next year and hopefully we'll be able to accommodate everyone. However, it's not too early to be planning your trip for next season. Book now and you'll be guaranteed the days that you want.

Higher Flows Begin

The higher flows that began June 1 are moving more food around. Midges are still working well, but as the weather warms and the flows increase, it will be more and more about the scuds, worms, big dry flies and streamers.
